TANNER'S ATTEMPT TO CONCEAL INFAMY

Concerning Marriage to. Mrs. Sarah Evans.

CARELESSNESS OF YOUNG GIRL PROVED UNDOING

Relative of Dead Woman Educator Tells of Cowardice of "Brother Smith."

Special to The Tribune. OGDEN, June 3 .- From the lips of one closely related to the late Mrs. Sarah E. Evans, whose name was linked with that of J. Marion Tanner in a secret polygamous marriage shortly after her demise in this city, last winter, has been unfolded the story of the "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" existence led by the notorious Tanner in his efforts to keep the facts connected with his polygamous union from the public.

This crusade of suppression began, according to the informant, from the day the unlawful ceremony was performed by former Apostie Matthias Cowley, up until a few days before Mrs. Evans drew her last breath, when Tanner wrote to Florilla Burgess, the fifteen-year-old adopted daughter of the woman, to destroy all of his letters in Mrs. Evans's possession.

possession.
This the girl neglected to do, and when the personal effects of the dead woman were examined letters from Tanner in which he addressed her as his wife were found. Those letters were taken possession of by her brothers, Will Taylor and John Taylor, who live at Lehi.

Cutler Saves Tanner.

They were only prevented from prose-cuting Tanner by the earnest request of T. R. Cutler, it is said, although David Evans, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Evans, demanded that Tanner be brought before bar of justice for his polygamous practices.

The letters are now supposed to be in possession of T. R. Cutler, who agreed to set as executor of Mrs. Evans's estate, after the refusal of Tanner to serve as requested in the instrument.

The wedding "ceremony" is said to have been performed by former Apostle Cowley, who had previously been forced to resign from the apostles' quorum because his own polygamous practices became too "raw" for even the church leaders to overlook. The marriage occurred at Lehi, at the home of Mrs. Evans, about a year after the death of her husband, Prime Evans, a prominent attorney of that town.

Traveled Together.

From that time on, Tanner was a frequent visitor at the home. Numerous trips to Colorado were taken together, and they boldly went among the Mormon residents of Alberta, Canada, where Tanner masqueraded under the name of "Brother Smith."

Brother Smith."

The last few months of Mrs. Evans's life are known to have been unhappy. She is known to have sold real estate in Lehi for $3200, which amount was turned over to Tauner to pay his half on a tract of land purchased jointly with former Apostic Cowley. He secured Mrs. Evans the position of instructor of the domestic science in the Weber stake academy, and from this city she frequently wrote him asking that the deeds to the property in Alberta purchased with her money be turned over to her, but her relative declares that Tainer never complied with her request. The worry incident to this transaction was what hastened her death, according to those familiar with the facts.

Made Effort to Suppress Facts BAMBERGER NOW AFTER HEALY AVENUE ROUTE

Persistent in Effort to Get Temporary Steam Franchise in Ogden.

OGDEN, June 3.-President Simon Bamberger of the Salt Lake & Ogden railway was in the city Wednesday on business. He said he was disappointed when he found it impossible to maintain when he found it impossible to maintain the schedule of excursions which he announced some time ago from this city over the Sait Lake & Ogden railway, but owing to the heavy rains which washed away a part of the readbed in the sand ridge, it was impossible to get the track laid in time. President Samberger, undaunted by the action of the City Council in refusing to allow him the use of Lincoln avenue for trains to be operated under steam power, says now that he Lincoln avenue for trains to be operated under steam power, says now that he will petition the Council next Monday night for permission to use steam temporarily on Healy avenue. If this request is not denied, the line could be run-linmediately from its present terminus to Washington avenue between Thirty-first and Thirty-second streets, thereby connecting with the main line of the Ogden Rapid Transit company.

President Bamberger realizes that so long as his road is kept out of the city, the traffic from Ogden to Salt Lake City and intermediate points will not pay the expense of its maintenance. For this reason he hopes that the city will grant him this privilege over Healy avenue temporarily until the whole road can be electrified, when the route over Lincoln avenue will be used as first contemplated.

Latest Developments in Political Circles

BALTIMORE, June 3.—The Democratic state convention was held today and delegates to the national convention at Denver were elected and a platform adopted. The latter makes no mention of the candidacy for the presidential nomination of Wm. J. Bryan, and his followers, who had been demanding half the delegation sent to Denver, count but four sure Bryan men among the sixteen delegates chosen. The close of the convention came among considerable confusion, owing to a statement of a delegate that he had intended to offer a resolution looking to instructions favorable to Bryan, but had been dissuaded, and an endeavor of another delegate to second the other's motion, though none had been made.

The platform promises the candidates named at Denver the "generous and loyal support of the thoroughly united Democracy of Maryland," but makes no suggestion as to who the candidates should be. It demands a revision of the tariff by the next congress, affirms adherence to the doctrine of state's rights and condemns that of centralization; condemns the president for "his presistent attempts to dictate and coerce legislation," demands the regulation of interstate commerce under the commerce clause of the constitution, with a view to "relieve the people to the utmost limit practicable from the grasp of the fliegal trusts," and declares against government ownership and management of railroads.
